Hey Ashkan, I was wondering what are all these part numbers? Round connector socket? Connector sockets for versions? Branch link? Taking off tool for AI?

Thanks.

A local dealer just explained that Germany has converted the 3 digit codes to 4 digits, but the prefixed 4th digit is not always a '9'.

My two numbers (040 & 197) are as on the numbers plate on the front radiator supports. And the 1999 brochure only lists the 3 digit numbers. Even my 2005 and 2006 C-Class brochures use the 3 digit codes.

Go to paintscratch.com and you can see a list of the color codes both in 3-digit and 4-digit. I believe 3-digit codes are typically used for chassis door cards, and 4-digit codes for part numbers/trims/etc.

Here is what comes up for the MY2000 C-Class.

Black Clearcoat 040/9040
 White Clearcoat 143/9143
 Black Opal Pearl Clearcoat 189/9189

 Desert Silver Metallic Clearcoat 693/1693
 Brilliant Silver Metallic Clearcoat 744/9744
 Tectite Gray Metallic Clearcoat 753/7753
 Aspen Green Metallic Clearcoat 891/6891
 Midnight Blue Clearcoat 904/5904

I know if you try some different google terms there are some sites that have more detailed info.

And I included the W210 PN because it's something like $300 cheaper from the dealer. Probably even less from a wrecker.

I think it's worth to note it takes less than an hour to cut it down (less than 30 minutes really with the right tools). In case anybody wanted an DIY OEM replacement.
