 Badging question...

I'd like to hear from the Chief Editor especially, but also other members to hear their opinions or to likewise hear what they've heard...

There seems to be quite a bit of confusion on AMG badging. What I mean by that is whether or not AMG badging is affixed at th factory for non-AMG vehicles that have AMG sport packages, wheels, etc. I was told in no uncertain terms by my service adviser that they do NOT come from the factory with the AMG badge on and that either the owners or the dealers themselves are doing Some people are convinced (I think they're delusional 🤪) that they're coming with the AMG badge from the factory, but I'd lik no BS answer to put it to rest once and for all.

My opinion? Badges do not an AMG make, it's the motor!

Thanks...

Who knows, perhaps in other markets the badge is added at the VPC...?? The absolute best way to test if their AMG is considered an AMG or not is by using their VIN and trying to register f this site. 😊

I want to hear that there's no way this badging nonsense is happening at the factory... Thanks

Great question! The only Mercedes-Benz vehicles that come from the factory with an AMG badge are authentic AMG vehicles.

The factory does not install AMG badges on "AMG Sport Package" vehicles or cars that have AMG accesories.

I've been trying to tell people this since I bought my first AMG, a 2002 E55. Non AMG's just do not come equipped with the bad period. Thanks for the definitive answer.

Thanks very much for putting that to rest. It's one thing to think it, another to know it. 😊

After all that I'll tell you one thing. The happies AMGers I have ever seen on the roads was a Ford Espirit filled with like 5 guys with "AMG" all over the thing. I just had to laugh thinking of the "Real AMGers" out there. I'll tell you they didn't care the least,, as they whipped down the road.....But I did hold them off... being the good boy I am.
